In the meantime it has been decided that the action of the Stewards in expelling him from the Club was illegal, for the reason that he had not been afforded an opportunity of being heard in his own defence before the resolution was come to. One point mised in the case however, is of great importance to any com munities at all the treaty ports, touching as it does the question of the jurisdiction of foreign tribunals in China, As an abstract proposition which does not admit of dispute it may be said that no individual or corporation should ever be wholly beyond-the reach of law of some kind or other. In the answer to Mr. BRANDT's petition the following passage occurs: "The defendants further submit to this . Honourable Court that looking to the nature of the jurisdiction of this Court as created by Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain, this Court should not take cognizance of the plaintiff's petition for that the petition is against the de- ment of capital music. The difficulty arises from the jurisdiction being personal and not territorial. The Committee of the Shanghai Race Club consists of seven members, of whom six are British subjects, and as these were said personally in a British Court no difficulty can arise in enforcing compliance with the decree of the Court so negotiations have been opened between France far as they are concerned. But, said Mr. and China, France giving up the claim for Robinson, the counsel for the defend an indemnity. auts, "supposing the Committee resigned, and a new committee wern elected, consist, ing, say, of three English, three Americans, and two Germans-any proportion you like in which the English are in the minorityhow could this Court enfor ; its decree for Mr. BRANDT to be re-instated?" No attempt was made to deal with this question. except in so far that the Judge said :-" It might be that the Court would make a decree which, owing to the different, inrisdictions in the place there would be a difficulty in. enforcing. But while sitting in judgment. on a case against a British subject he had nothing to do with that -he had to make a decree in accordance with what he thought right, and when the decree had to be enforped, then would be the time to consider. any difficulties in the way of enforcing it." were correct the directors, of the Hongkew Wharf Company, the Electric Company, and all the other Companies of Shanghai could For the former the Ladies Purse get rid of all their liabilities because they represented mixed bodies of shareholders. In the course of that agreement there became due to the plaintiff the sum of $555 by way of gratuity under the agreement, and though plaintiff had demanded payment of this amount, defendant had not paid him. In the month of January. 1884, plaintiff entered into a new agreement wit defendant, and he managed the business up to the 16th September, when the defendant, wrongfully, and without cause, dismissed him from his employment. After this the defendant made out and presented to him a statement of accounts by which it was made to appear that after reckoning up overything, there ramained a 16th of October. The statement was correct with the exception that the defendant omitted to state as due to the plaintiff the sum of $555 as gratuity brought into a very efficient state, and the public due under the agreement of 1882, and he took no account of what would be due to plaintiff on commission to be carned during the period beindifferent health for some time past, but he stuck | tween September 16th and October 16th. Ernest D: de Segonaso, the plaintiff, said he was formerly in the Chinese Customs, and he left it in October, 1882. In the month of September, 1982, he-heard through the French Vice-Consul that Mr. Oppenheimer of Yokohama was looking for an agent. He thereupon offered his service to Mr. Oppenheimer, and a good deal of correspondence ensued and in the end he went to Yokohama to see Mr. Oppenheimer. They arrived at the agreement embodied in the petition. After that he went upon the defendant's employment to Shanghai. From the date of the agreement to December, 1883, he made purchases for the firm to the value of about $95,000. From The other business was the arrangement of Shanghai he came down to Canton and there opened an agency in the name of Oppenheimer Freres. He there went on purchasing and getting samples, and doing the business of the firm. He established himself at the Silk Condition House on Shameen. In the month of September, 1883, there was a riot at Canton in which a great deal of foreign property was destroyed by fire including his own house. He came down to. Hougkong, and informed Mr. Oppenhoimer of what had occurred, telling him he had lost all books and papers connected with the business as well as: his own premises. There were goods and samples belonging to the firm at that time, and there were orders in hand, the papers of which were barned. He wrote to Messrs. Oppenheimer on the 14th September, acquainting them with the facts. and they replied by sletter dated the 21st Septembor, and there was a great deal of correspondence instructing him to claim damages of the Chinese Government for loss of business to the firm, &c. He made the claim at Canton, and as he had come to live in Hongkong, he went backwards and forwards between the two places concerning this business a good deal. During all this time he saw none of the firm personally in Hongkong and the first he met Mr. Opponheimer after this correspondence was at Shanghai in the beginning of last May. They had a conversa tion with regard to this claim, and his own claim for his own personal loss, and Mr. Oppenheimer promised to give him 25 per cent. commission on what he recovered for the firm. Plaintiff was Shaughai a fortnight, and then went to various places in the north of China for the firm. My Oppenheimer agreed to find him an office Hongkong, and witness engaged a house suitable for the purpose, using the lower floor for offices, and living on the upper floor. When Mr. Oppenheimer came down he turned plaintiff's furniture out of his drawing room, and took the room for a bedroom for himself. It was agreed by correspondence that Mr. Oppenheimer should settle accounts on his arrival hero, and they proceeded to do so. After this plaintiff became il and was unable to go to the office, and a good deal of correspondence passed between him and Mr. Oppenheimer. He went to the office as soon as he was well to go over the books and verliying them, but while he was going over 1min. 403secs. the press copy book to rockou up the amount of commission due to him the next day Mr. Oppenheimer refused, to let him see the books any more, and aske him if he would settle up the account. He then presented an account which he had prepared, and a paper that told him he must leave the office. The evidence was for the most part composed of correspondence between the parties, and upon them the proof of the case mainly depended. The correspondence appeared to be very voluminous, and no translatious had been made of the letters, which was analy put in in French. It was necessary that "13" hould, be translations of these letters, and Mr. Levy, who was sworn as interpreter, intimated that he should require a week to make the translations. I may mention that there are three jails in Mandalay, two outside and one inside the palace, and the struchter vas carried on, not morely at the organ whi it was commenced, but also at the other two. A civil prisoner who had been put in jail for a debt. of Rs. 15 was murdared, as well as some fifteen of the jail beggars. With respect to those latter, should explain that it is not the outtom hore for the Government to feed convicts, and a certain number of those who have no friends willing and able to support them, are allowed to go out and beg food or earn it by carrying water and doing other odd jobs for people. Those prisoners who managed to escape in the confusion, are still being sought for, and not one of them who is oppured will escape death.

The sequel to the masses was as horrible as. that ghastly incident itself: Some of the leads of the victims were bluck up on bumbers in the cemetery, and others were carried through the streets on polos. He said:- Some stupid account has got into the Brisbane papers about my party being attacked by blacks. I suppose it has been cabled home and my people will be much alarmed." The reporter remarked that the statement had probably been contradicted and asked His Grace if he was anywhere near the place at the time. The Duke replied-"Not nearer than thirty miles but we heard of the attack the following morning. The blacks were very bad in some parts of the country where I have been." Asked it he had decided on becoming a landed proprietor in the Northern Territory, he said "I have come to no definite decision. Had Fisher's scheme been carried out I should certainly have gone into it, bus it is broken up now, and will not come to anything. . I must say I have been very favourably impressed with the country I have seen, but I cannot say at present what my inten-tions are for the future."

FINGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises I for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the secents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously. THE Steamship attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore charactarized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the or about the 26th instant. following facts are submitted for consideration: This Steamer has superior accommodation Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 for Passengers, and carries a Doctor and a Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English Stewardess. and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese charac-[19] ters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the B student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many ar any other Dictionary hithort pub-[943 For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages embles a person who understands English Pol to communicate effectively with natives who at FIVE P.M.
